The boy stood on the burning deck whence all but him had fled. The smudge-pot lifted the air with smoke, the red fire glowed real red. The thunder roared, the lightning flashed, and still he would not go. "For if I did I'd spoil," quoth he, "the moving picture show." The camera clicked, the film rolled on, the boy was burning money. The picture made him a reputé, and bought his bread and honey.

Every community is cursed by a class of people who make it their business to attend to everybody's business but their own. Such people are the meanest specimens of depraved humanity which an all wise Providence permits to exist on this green earth.

It is said that dancing makes girls feet large. It is also said that ice cream makes freckles. Doctors are of the opinion that hanging on the front gate produces rheumatism. A few more opinions like these and the girls won't have any more fun left them.

TO ALL ROYAL BREAD EATERS

If you buy home made bread you get four ounces more for 10 cents than you do of Royal Bread, so every three loaves you buy you get one extra loaf. I call THAT FREE bread. They talk about their premium plan pays for the bread you eat—you are misled there. You are paying for that premium on every loaf you buy and besides paying for the premium a little profit is added. Do you think they are in business for the fun of it? Did you ever get something for nothing? If you did, tell the public about it. Do you believe in your home town? If you do, build it up first, then build up Salt Lake. So get your thinker to working and buy Home Made Bread hereafter.

Big Business

Big Business does not always hold a menace.

Sometimes it is a necessity and works for the welfare of the public it serves.

Handling a million telephone messages every day is the biggest kind of Big Business.

Our task would be easy if this million messages were evenly distributed during each twenty-four hours.

But the telephone business doesn't work that way; people use the telephone when they want to and we must be ready to serve them when they want to be served.

In one single hour every morning, "the busy hour," over one hundred and twelve thousand telephone messages pass over our wires.

It is our task to provide switchboards, equipment, apparatus and operators to meet the needs of this "busy hour" and to handle each call as soon as it is received.

A good part of this expensive equipment is not in use during the rest of the day, but it must be ready for use when needed.

All of these things cost money—big money—and a portion of this big investment brings no return during many hours of the day.

Combinations of capital and combinations of brains, industry and labor make Big Business.

It is only because of this kind of Big Business that such investments and such service are possible.
